2. Pay for artillery officers in the Soviet Zone of Germany is as follows:

25X1

a. Regimental Commander, a colonel:

regimental commanders' pay (assignment pay) - 1800 rubles colonels' pay (rank pay) - 1300 rubles plus longevity

for 2-5 years - 5%
for 5-10 years - 10%
for 10-15 years - 15%

allowance for orderly - 300 rubles
Total: about 4000
rubles

The colonel gets 3200 rubles and 3200 East Marks (20% of the total pay is deducted and paid in East Marks; i.e., 20% of 4000 is 800 rubles, and 800 rubles, figured at two marks per ruble equals 1600 East Marks). I believe the extra 1600 East Marks constitutes overseas pay.
Deductions from the pay are as follows:

13% income tax - this income tax is 13% of all earnings above 1000 rubles per month; for those earning less than 1000 rubles per month the tax is 8%

15-20% for war bonds - officers must buy war bonds in an amount equivalent to two month's pay; in this example a minimum of 3000 rubles per year must be invested in war bonds

3% for CP dues

30 East Marks for rent

40 rubles per three-month period for newspaper and magazine subscriptions

10 East Marks per month for service in the mess hall

Uniforms for officers and their meals are free, but any items eaten which are not included in the menu must be paid for

- b. The deputy regimental commander receives 1500 rubles assignment pay, plus his rank pay, orderly allowance, and longevity.
- c. The regimental political officer receives 1800 rubles assignment pay, plus his rank pay, allowances and longevity.
- d. The battery commander receives 900 rubles assignment pay, plus his rank pay, allowances and longevity.

3. Rubles are not paid out to officers in the Soviet Zone of Germany, nor can they be drawn in East Marks; instead they are entered in special bankbooks. Thus the money can be drawn from the account when the depositor is in the USSR; he can transfer money to his relatives in the USSR from the account; or, when going on leave, the depositor can draw rubles at the USSR border.
4. In the USSR, all married officers who have no children pay a special tax of 6% for childlessness, but this tax is not levied upon officers in the Soviet Zone of Germany.
5. Officers get the following items free, for the period stated:

Overcoat - two years
Gabardine summer uniform - two years
Trousers - one year
Parade uniform - three years
Summer uniform, issue - one year
Dress boots - eight months
